

Samantha Ho (“Samantha”) is the chief investment officer of Altus Holdings Limited. Samantha has 30 years’ of experience in the finance industry, specialising in fund management.

Prior to joining Altus, Samantha served as a director of the board of Hong Kong Securities and Investment Institute (“HKSI”) and acted as investment director at Invesco Hong Kong Limited. Her broad fund management experience includes time served at Manulife Asset Management (Hong Kong) Limited, SEB Investment Management and Jardine Fleming Securities Limited.

Samantha is a chartered financial analyst accredited by The Institute of Chartered Financial Analysts and a senior fellow of HKSI since 2014. She is also a Committee Member of the CFA Disciplinary Review Committee and serves as a Court Member and an investment committee member of a university in Hong Kong. She formerly served as Deputy Chairman of the CFA Disciplinary Review Committee and currently serves as a the Deputy Chairman of the Court of Lingnan University and the University’s investment committee member. She formerly served as Deputy Chairman of the CFA Disciplinary Review Committee and currently serves as the Deputy Chairman of the Court of Lingnan University and the University’s investment committee member.